LIPPITT'S SPECIFIC.

For the Cure of Dysentery, Diarrhad; and Summer Com-plaints.

In presenting this justly celebrated Medicine to the public, we make no rash assertions of its efficacy, nor is any hope held out to the afflicted which facts do not warrant. This remedy having been, for years, used in this place, for the cure of the above diseases and those appertaining to the same class, the proprietor has been induced to offer it on a more extensive scale, with a view to lessen the amount of human suffering. I have never known it to fail when the directions have been strictly adhered to.

Many useless nostrums have been palmed upon the public, and I hesitated for some time, until thoroughly convinced of its efficacy.

The accounts we have are that they are now open for the passage of the Brit

The Dardanelles, from which the strait, or Hellespont, derives its name, are four strong castles built opposite to each on the European and Asiatic coasts; and are the keys of Constantinople Two of these castles, the old castles, were raised by Mahommed Il soon after the conquest of Constantinople, in 1453; the other two, the new castles, were built in the middle of the 17th century to protect the Tarks against the Venetians. The latter command the entrance to the Hellespont, and the distance from each is about two miles and a quarter; in four hours' sail up the strait are the old castles, which are about three quarters of a mile apart. These are well mounted with formidable batteries. All along the European shore to the Marmora the aspect of nature in its ruggedness corre-ponds with the frown of the guns; but the scenery on the Asiatic shore is beautiful The region abounds, too, in places amous in classic story Here it was Leander paid his nightly visit to Hero; here the ill fated hosts of Xerxes crossed on a bridge of boats; here Solyman crossed on a bare raft : and in modern times here Byron swam from Sestos to Abydos. These famous straits have been more than once passed. In 1770 the Russian squadron, under Elphistone, appeared before the tower castles; and the admiral actually went by without damage. But the other ships did not follow him and he returned with drums and trumpets sounding. A British fleet under Admiral Duckworth forced their passage in 1807. They relieved me entirely. Some time has now elapsed, and I have no more trouble from the sick headman beautiful and the sick headm ache. M. JOHLSON, 118 Lewis street.

The wife of a respectable tradesman, residing in the neighbor-hood of Thrapstone, suffering for more than two years from a se-vere liver complaint, turing which period she received the best medical advice, but without deriving the slightest benefit there-from. She then made trial of Holloway's Fills, and by their use alone she has been restored to perfect health; the name of the party cured is not made public, but Mrs. Collier, Bookseller, Thrapstone can vouch for the authenticity of the case. These Fills are also an infallible remedy for indigestion, bilious attacks, headaches, and all disorders of the stomach.

There is a considerable saving by taking the largest sizes.

A MEDICINE must have merit, and great merit too, to stand the test of public opinion. No art of puffing en galvanize a worthless article so as to keep it alive as a good medicine, if it be not really so.

A good medicine will live, become popular, and extendits sales year after year, in spite of opposition The people realily find out its virtues, and the fame of them passes from mouth to mouth with more rapidity than newspapers can spread it. Aliving witness, testifying to the cure a medicine has made for him, is of far more service than any newspapers advertising.

cine has made for him, is of far more service than any newpaper advertising.
